Atrium Network connects to BM&FBOVESPA

London, 24 March 2009 - Atrium Network, provider of smarter connectivity for the financial community, today announced that it has extended its extranet connectivity to the Brazilian marketplace with one of its major customers in the global trading business being among the first to be connected.

Since launching in 2006, Atrium Network has continued to expand its coverage to provide connectivity from its POPs in Paris, London, Frankfurt, Lisbon, Madrid, Brussels, New York, Chicago and now São Paulo, Brazil. By connecting to the newly integrated Brazilian Mercantile & Futures Exchange (BM&F) and the São Paulo Stock Exchange (Bovespa), Atrium Network's global client base can now access BM&FBOVESPA through the community extranet connectivity.

Commenting on the expansion, Emmanuel Pellé, Head of Sales, Atrium Network said, "This is a significant milestone for Atrium Network. We are continually innovating to anticipate market developments and respond to customer demand. By extending our connectivity reach to Brazil, we have enabled our clients to tap into this much sought after market through a single, low latency connection."
